

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company.

LOAN DEPARTMENT. 47939

Milwaukee, Wis.. June 27th, 1913.

George M. West,
Panama City, Florida.

Dear Sir:

For the purpose of renewing your loan of $900. on policy No. 226544 which matured June 20th, 1903, I enclose herewith a new assignment of the said policy, drawn for the same amount and dated June 20th, 1913, the anniversary of the loan and the date to which interest has been paid.

If you, your wife, and granddaughter will execute and return the document an extension will be granted for an indefinite period which means that the loan may run as long as the policy is in force and its value is not consumed by the debt and that no future renewal will be necessary. Whenever you desire to repay you may do so under the privilege incorporated in the document which permits repayment of the whole sum or of any portion not less than $20. at any time.

Upon return of the agreement, properly signed in ink and without alteration, the renewal can be granted and the old canceled note returned.

As the age of your granddaughter, one of the beneficiaries under said policy, has never been recorded I will request you to furnish an affidavit subscribed and sworn to showing

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company.

LOAN DEPARTMENT.

Milwaukee, Wis..

just how old she is. Of course if she is under twenty-one years of age the transaction outlined above cannot be completed while she remains a minor and retains her interest in the policy.

Yours truly,

T. J. Knox
2nd Ass't Sec'y.
HAC

HAC/FEM.